Full-Spectrum CBD contains every cannabinoid present in the cannabis or hemp plant.

Full-Spectrum products contain small amounts of THC (0.3%) which could cause one to fail a drug test.

ISOLATE

Isolate CBD is when the cannabinoid CBD is separated from all the other compounds present in the plant.

Other cannabinoids offer some benefits which will not be present in a CBD isolate.

THE ENTOURAGE EFFECT

A 2015 study, noted that full-spectrum CBD offers higher levels of anti-inflammatory relief than isolate CBD at the same dose. The higher efficiency of full-spectrum plant extract can be explained by synergistic interactions between CBD, terpenes, and other cannabinoids present in a full-spectrum extract.
